HISTORICAL CLUB HEAR TWO GOOD PAPERS

What Should Be Our Best Immigration Policy?

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN

Paper Also Read on Repatriating the Returned Soldier

The Historical Club held its closing meeting of the season last night at Strathcona Hall. The attendance was rather small, but this was accounted for by the fact that students are preparing for the exams.

Papers were read by P. J. Kearns, Med. '21, on "What Should Be Our Best Immigration Policy," and by A. W. Stuart on "Repatriating the Returned Soldier." The papers are as under:

What Should Be Our Best Immigration Policy?

(By P. J. Kearns, Med. '21, 1919.)

"Immigration to Canada," says a Government report, just published at Ottawa, "is the crucial economic factor in the progress of the Dominion."

The reason for this is that "every financial responsibility that has been assumed for the development of Canada, whether in pledging public credit for railways, or for civic expansion, or for industrial enterprises, has been assumed in expectation of a greater increase of population than the natural increase."

The risk in such a policy is well shown by the discrepancy of three-quarters of a million people between the estimated and the ascertained population of 1911. It is this discrepancy, in fact, that has brought the problem of Canadian immigration sharply to the fore.

The Dominion has long been dependent on its settlers from the outside. In the language of the report, the expansion of Modern Canada is the expansion of immigration. "No other country has, relatively, such a record of assimilation of non-native peoples as Canada."

How warmly she welcomes them may be seen in her liberal naturalization laws, which give to any alien who takes the oath, full rights of citizenship after three years residence. The Dominion is thus in a position which the United States occupied for the first seventy-five years of her existence.

The difference is that our problem was never acute economically, although serious enough politically, partly because we could not have mortgaged the future if we had wished, and partly because it was seldom necessary to urge aliens to take advantage of the obvious opportunities in this land.

MEETING OF STUDENTS' COUNCIL YESTERDAY

Shaughnessy to Be Signed on as Coach for Rugby Team

The regular meeting of the Students' Council took place yesterday. Ross Laing was in the chair, and the following were present: O'Brien, Millis, Nicholson, Behan, Parkins, Heney, Gilhooly, Windsor, Peterson and Pender.

Captain Nicholson, O'Brien, Gilhooly and Forbes were appointed as a committee for the dance.

The attention of the Council was drawn to the fact that the C.I.A.U. rules were to be revised, and Forbes and Argue were appointed to represent McGill.

With the prospect of a resumption next season of Intercollegiate Rugby, it was decided that Shaughnessy should be signed on as the McGill coach, and also it was moved that the Law house at the stadium be put in shape for the athletic contest.

It was moved, seconded and adopted, that as the granting of M's is unconstitutional, the members of the Basketball and Hockey teams be granted team photographs as an appreciation from the Students' Council for their services during the past season.

A recommendation was brought in that a graduate be appointed as secretary of the Students' Council for next year.

Recommendations were brought in regarding the Rush and the need of a flag pole at the stadium.

After a vote of thanks to the retiring Council had been adopted, the Council adjourned.

FINAL DANCE OF THE YEAR FRIDAY NIGHT

The Closing Informal Dance Expected to Be the Best

TICKETS STILL ON SALE

Students' Admission Fee Fixed at $1.50 Per Couple—Non-Students, $2.00

The final dance of the season is scheduled to take place to-morrow night, and, judging by the sale of tickets so far, there is no doubt of its popularity.

During the past few days many of the students have bought their tickets, and they all seem to be of the opinion that this function will be the best informal dance of the season.

Nothing this season has proved so popular as these informal dances, and the last one bids fair to be the best of all. The informal dance provides an evening's pleasure, and does not have the after effects of the more important formal dances, which are not popular when exams are drawing near.

The porters have been working on the floor of the large hall, and it will be in perfect condition for Friday. Only one hall will be used for this dance, and the committee are doing everything possible to see that there is no overcrowding.

Supper will be served in the lounge room of the Union, and an adequate staff of waiters will be on hand to prevent any unnecessary delays. The programme will be printed in to-morrow's issue of the Daily, in order that the students will know the order which will be followed.

One of the most popular Jazz Bands will supply the music for the occasion, and should leave nothing to be desired in this respect. This type of orchestra has proved most popular for the informal dances this year.

Many of the lady students will be present, and it appears as if the dance would be more truly a college affair than any held this year.

Tickets for the dance may be obtained at the Union, the price for students being 75 cents, and for graduates and friends $1.00.

AQUATIC MEET.

A limited number only of tickets for the Aquatic Meet are left, so that all students desirous of going to the Meet had better buy theirs to-day and so avoid disappointment.

Tickets are on sale from the following persons: Union, Hall Porter; R.V.C., Miss F. E. Basnar, '19; Science, S. S. Pitt, '19; Arts, G. M. Webster, '22; Med., G. G. Miller, '22, and the M.A.A.A.

AQUATIC MEET ARRANGEMENTS ARE COMPLETED

Large Crowd Expected to Be Present

MANY STUDENT ENTRIES

Students Desirous of Being Present Should Buy Their Tickets at Once

A meeting of the McGill Swimming Club was held yesterday at five o'clock in the Union. A motion was passed in favour of supporting intercollegiate water polo. It was decided to apply to the McGill Athletic Association for support in arranging home and home games in water polo with Toronto, in order to further interest in this brand of athletics. These games would be held in connection with the Intercollegiate Swimming Meet.

Arrangements were then completed for the coming Aquatic Meet. The reports of the different faculty representatives were handed in, and it was found that few tickets were left for sale. All those desirous of attending the meet should buy their tickets to-day, and so avoid disappointment, as it is improbable that any tickets will be on sale at the door:

STUDENT CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN JUNE

An Interesting Programme of Studies and Athletics Arranged

The conference will open Wednesday noon, June 18th, and will close Thursday morning, June 26th. Naturally, the opening session is very important. Every one should be present and remain throughout the whole period. Plan now to set these days free for this important matter.

The place of forgoing is on Brome Lake, near Knowlton, Que. Knowlton is about 70 miles southeast of Montreal, on the C.P.R., between the junctions of Foster and Sutton. The location is beautiful, but one will find there those things which are even more worthy than material loveliness.

The programme includes "Bible Study," "Mission and Problem Study," "Social Service," etc. To carry on the work, we have secured several outstanding national and international leaders.

Each afternoon the programme will be in the hands of the Athletic Committee, which will have full charge. Baseball, tennis, football, excellent boating and swimming, hikes, etc., will be the order of the day. Bring all your sporting togs with you. Bring with you the necessary equipment for a stunt or special number for the All Canada concert programme.

Call at the Hall to talk the matter over with R. Davitt Scott.

CHOOSING A COURSE.

We wonder how many students, when they graduate, feel thoroughly satisfied with the course of studies they have followed during their years at college. We are not here referring to the quality or quantity of the learning provided by the instructors, but to the choice exercised by the undergraduate when he is called upon to pick certain subjects upon which he is to place special emphasis.

In the case of students of Medicine, the question is to a great extent simplified, since most of the men who enter that faculty seem to have had predilections for such work from their earliest days. Besides, the work, which becomes more and more of a practical nature, absorbs the attention of the learner almost in spite of himself, and there are not many men who graduate in Medicine who do not intend to practice in the near future.

When we come to Science, a certain difficulty presents itself. Several courses of instruction are offered to the student, and there is always a possibility that he will make a mistake in selecting the one for which he is most suited. It is in Arts, however, that the chief opportunity arises for making a wrong choice. In this faculty a man may select as his course of study Economics or History, and then after a couple of years' close application to it realize that some other subject would have proved far more congenial to him.

This state of affairs seems hard to remedy, for the individuality of the students must be taken into consideration, and anything like mapping out a man's course for him without his full consent would be an attempt doomed to failure. Still, something like an advisory board formed from amongst the members of the teaching staff, which would be able to take young men in hand, and after obtaining some knowledge of their plans for a career after leaving college, to show them which courses would be the most beneficial under the circumstances.

WELL ATTENDED GATHERING OF PHILOSOPHERS

Paper Was Read on Modern Psychic Tendencies

SUBJECT WELL DISCUSSED

Christian Science, Spiritualism, New Thought and Mysticism Were Condemned

Those who attended the meeting of the Philosophical Club, held last night at the home of Prof. J. W. A. Hickson, spent a most enjoyable and interesting evening. T. A. Sperber, the speaker of the evening, read a paper on "Modern Psychic Tendencies." This paper was presented in an able and admirable style, which was greatly appreciated by all. Christian Science, Mysticism, Spiritualism, New Thought were treated one after another. He showed that all these movements, some of which are new and others as ancient as man himself, grew up during the different ages to suit the demands of the human mind. He condemned and revealed the different tricks of the mystic spiritualists and telepathists, and convinced his audience that even in cases where things seem to be supernatural, there is a reason to be found.

Coincidence, he claims, seems to play a large part in these so-called mysteries.

The writer traced the deathless desire for some positive knowledge of the unseen world, of the mystery of birth and death and personality, as far back into the dim ages as is possible to view. The present revival of this interest is but a recrudescence of the mental attitude of our primitive ancestors. There seems to be in man's nature a continual, restless craving for more knowledge of the whence and whither of organic existence.

The interest and credulity with which the modern psychic movements have been received, was largely brought on as a counter-action against the iconoclastic materialism which arose during the nineteenth century, as a result of the great discoveries in science and the deep interest displayed in natural studies. In more recent times, the appalling destruction of the Great War, brought on a wide-spread belief that there must be a future life to recompense for the sorrows of this world.

In obedience to the revived tendency which embodied a desire for greater earthly happiness, there grew up the New Thought and Christian Science Movements, which aimed at healing man's physical self, by the belief that maladies are purely imaginary. The writer dealt with the great fallacies which exist in the claims of these Movements, in that they believe that mind only exists, and that matter is purely an imaginative fancy of the mind. He expressed the earnest conviction that all the faith and hope in the world would not cure him of an attack of appendicitis. Mrs. Eddy says, in her book, "Science and Health," that when a man swallows poison, it is only a majority of human belief that causes his death. "You say a boil is painful, but that is impossible. The boil simply manifests a belief in pain, and the belief is called a boil."

It is interesting to note that Mrs. Eddy herself died of pneumonia, despite all the efforts of Christian Science healers. "Mind," evidently, was inefficacious.

Sperber dealt with the theory of the "subliminal self" as adduced by Frederick Meyers. The subliminal self is said to contain not only the record of unheeded past impressions, a latent memory, but also has activities and faculties far transcending the range of our conscious self. This theory is a very good explanation of dream-phenomena. The writer advanced the theory that probably this subliminal self pointed to an existence before our birth, and that, shortly after we come into this world, we forget all our previous knowledge.

Spiritualism, a magic word to many people, denotes a belief in personal immortality and the possibility of communication with the dead. The two great modern exponents of this tendency are Sir Conan Doyle and Sir Oliver Lodge. The writer felt that these men fell deplorably short of his conception of clever and critical men, because of the strikingly evident blunders they had made, when once they claimed the possibility of communication with the dead, and of the fallacious evidence they had brought forward. The speaker gave several instances in which these men had so hopelessly fooled themselves, and were endeavouring to induce other people to believe with them.

This susceptible tendency towards a belief in the spiritual had led to the creation of a new profession of money-making mediums, and clairvoyants. The illiteracy displayed in the "messages" of Oliver Lodge's son, Raymond, was significantly compared to the illiteracy of the mediums, and the writer ventured the suggestion that the matter was due either to conscious deception, or to the inner imaginative workings of the subliminal self in the medium.

The final part of the paper dealt with the materialistic and idealistic theories of life, and the writer pointed out that the materialism displayed in German methods of warfare had been proven to be non-invincible by that very factor, human sentiment, which it derided.

After the conclusion of the paper a most interesting and intellectual discussion ensued, in which everybody participated. The subject was of a fortunate character, in that it brought to the fore the many ideas which are entertained on these interesting subjects. The chairman, O. Klineberg, expressed the thanks of the society to L. A. Sperber for his interesting paper, and took the occasion to thank Dr. Hickson for his aid and interest in the society during the past, and thanked him, on behalf of the society, for his kindly hospitality. Dr. Hickson then invited the members to partake of some delightful refreshments, during which a pleasant, informal conversation was intermingled, and then the meeting was adjourned.

BRINGING UP BABY.

(By Facetious Parents.)

In answer to the question as to what we are doing with our baby, we would answer that up to date we have fed him on sterilized, unsterilized, pasteurized, cow's, goat's, condensed, neptonized, and modified milk. We have rocked him to sleep, sung him to sleep, and let him howl himself to sleep. We have dosed him with hot pepper, peppermint, ipecac and soothing syrup. We have rubbed him with goose oil, olive oil and cod-liver oil. We have patted him on the stomach to the tune of "John Brown's Body." We have shaken a rattle before his face for three-quarters of an hour. We have given him mental treatment, vibration treatment, and turned red, blue and green thought on him for hours. We are here to take orders and advice from everybody, and if you have the slightest thing to suggest that we have not already done to that baby, do not tell us—we may forget it. But write it down, and send it along at the earliest possible moment.

GUNNER NICOLL BACK.

A visitor to the Union yesterday was Gunner Howard Nicoll, Arts '19, who has just returned from England. Gunner Nicoll enlisted at the end of his second year at McGill in the Siege Battery draft raised by Capt. Brunton, and went to England with that unit in June, 1917. In November of the same year he crossed to France with the 4th D.A.C. and took part in the battle of Passchendaele, where he underwent the unpleasant experience of being buried alive by shell explosions and dug out by his comrades.

On November 24th, 1918, he returned to England and spent four months there, awaiting his return to Canada. His former class-mates of Arts '19 will be glad to see him back in their ranks, and he intends to resume his studies at McGill shortly.

With her promptness is one of the elements of the problem. Where shall she look for immigrants? She is receiving them from the sources she regards as highly satisfactory—the British Isles and the U. S. This double stream kneads quickly into Canadian national life. Each part of it is desired. The Americans, mainly farmers, accustomed to prairie life, go West, where their experience and ready adaptability are invaluable. Such is the complimentary phraseology of the report. The Britishers, largely wage-earners, scatter over the entire Dominion. The problem is consequently two-fold. To maintain the flow to the Western Provinces, and to increase it in the eastern. This would mean specific encouragement of British emigration, a policy that is enforced by political consideration. This political factor has been formally recognized in the Canadian House of Commons, where a former Cabinet Minister declared it "good policy to have the bulk of your immigration from the British Isles." The occasional spread-eagle utterances of prominent American politicians are hardly calculated to diminish this feeling. Canada's plain course, then, is to expand her immigration from Great Britain, which, owing to relative pressure of population, means not Scotland or Ireland, but England.

At the beginning of the Century, only 20% of British emigration was going to British countries. In a dozen years that proportion has risen to 80%, with Canada having become the chief hope of British statesmen in that regard. On the other hand, within the last year, Frenchmen have been officially warned by their Minister of Industry against emigrating to the Dominion. The need for strengthening the ties that bind Canada to the Mother Country is shown by the contrast that is drawn between the feeling of the Englishmen in Canada and in Australia. In Australia, he finds the prevailing accent is that of his own dear London. He hears England freely spoken of as "home." He finds no large element of republicans. In Canada a different spirit prevails. Loyalty is mixed with independence. Canada needs England, but she will not cease being Canada on any terms. It is evident that the difficulties of her immigration problem are not small. The frank and thorough way she is facing them, however, is the best means of bringing that day which Lord Grey predicted, when Canada will be the centre of the Empire, the leader of the British nations. Notwithstanding the regulations for the restrictions of immigration from the Orient, certain classes of immigrants, in particular British East Indians, were being induced to come to Canada under circumstances which may necessitate a refusal of their admission to our shores.

Experience has shown that immigration of this class, having been accustomed to the conditions of a tropical climate, are wholly unsuited to this country, and that their inability to readily adapt themselves to the surroundings so entirely different, inevitably brings upon them much suffering and privation; also, that were such immigration allowed to reach any considerable dimensions, it would result in a serious disturbance to industrial and economic conditions in portions of the Dominion, and especially in the Province of British Columbia. Such an effective restriction of immigration is desirable, therefore, not less in the interest of the East Indians themselves, than in the interests of the Canada people. Moreover, the whole subject of Oriental immigration is one of first concern to Canada, and affecting, as it does, the relations of the Dominion with foreign powers, and the relations of our people with fellow-British subjects in India, involves considerations of the highest importance, not only to Canada, but to the British Empire as a whole. Then, it is desirable that on this important question there should be as complete an exchange of views between the authorities of Great Britain and Canada as may be possible, and in reference to it there should be a complete understanding between the governments of the two countries.

DEATH OF MRS. W. D. LAWRENCE.

The Daily expresses the sympathy of many friends in the University to Wm. D. Lawrence, Sc.D. '04, superintending engineer, in the loss of his wife, Margaret Allen, who passed away yesterday. Mrs. Lawrence was taken ill with grippe, which developed into pneumonia, a few days ago, but the fatal termination of her illness came as a shock to many, because of its suddenness. The funeral will take place at Maitland, N.S., on Friday.

Besides the husband, Mrs. Lawrence leaves behind four young children, the eldest of whom is hardly old enough to realize the meaning of death.

Mr. Lawrence has already departed on his sad errand to the east, leaving Mrs. Allen, mother of the deceased, with the children.

RETURNED MEDS. SMOKER

The Returned Meds. are at it again. The Veterans will hold a pow-wow in a suitable place—most likely the Ritz—on Friday evening, April 11. The affair will be marked by its informality. In the matter of clothing, almost anything within reason will pass muster. The executive already has the pot of "pep" simmering, and will soon announce the names of those who will speak or play musical instruments, or just make the crowd laugh.

It's going to be a very good party. Besides the merry Meds, there will be grand Science men and angular Arts fellows, all old grads who saw service on the land, in the air or on the bounding sea.

The date, mark you, is Friday, April 11.

THE COUCHICING CONFERENCE

A meeting of the Y.W.C.A. was held Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of giving the girls an idea of what a conference is like.

Those who went to Lake Couchicung Summer Conference last summer had a most wonderful experience. The meeting was small and informal, but all those present were keenly interested in the talks given by Miss Doris Dart on the general details, by Miss Hazel Davidson on the sports and recreation, and by Miss Jean Nichol on the technical sessions.

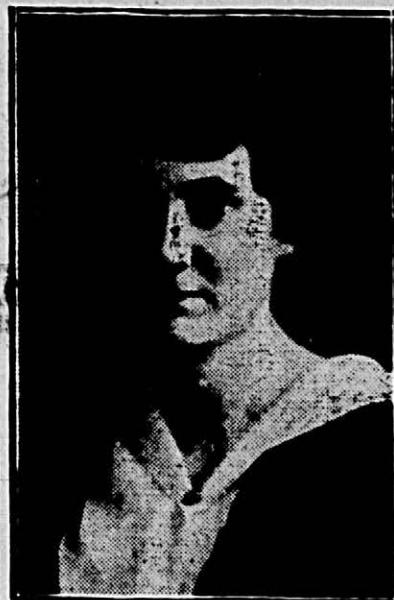

It was suggested at the close of the meeting that all those who could pay half of their expenses, that is, twenty dollars, should hand in their names to some member of the Cabinet or Miss Doris Dart, the head of the Elgin House Committee, in order that arrangements could be made as soon as possible for a splendid delegation to the Conference this year. Please look at the Y.W.C.A. notice board for pamphlets and the Couchicung poster. We must have R.V.C. represented by a splendid delegation this year, and the way to have enthusiasm is to be interested.

KING GEORGE TO PRESENT TROPHY.

Announcement is made by the Henley Regatta Commission, that King George has promised to present a trophy for an eight-oar race in the 1919 regatta. This event will be open to amateur crews of service men representing any allied nation or British dominion and colony which has raised its own expeditionary force, or the equivalent.

The commission has decided not to accept any entries from overseas or foreign countries, except in the four events already arranged for crews from the allied forces.

MISS GLADYS M. BANFILL.

Campus Leaders.

GLADYS M. BANFILL.

Miss Gladys Banfill was born at East Angus, Quebec, where she received her preparatory training before proceeding to McGill, in October, 1915. She has held a position on the executive of the Société ever since her first year, being in turn secretary-treasurer, vice-president and president. As an active member she has also secured a trophy in the competitions of that society.

Her favourite haunts are the corridors of R.V.C., and her favourite habit is advising others to keep early hours. She was instituted as one of the chief messengers for the "Flu" patients of R.V.C. during the recent epidemic. Her main ejaculation is "What's that?"
